culation in the District.WASHINGTON, SEPTEMBER 17, 1879.Even the September breezes whisper out,
"Ewing's a gone."If JOHN KELLY and GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS could be hand-cuffed together and placed on exhibition, what a fine, strictly non-partisan show they would make!The old Cypre Ogre is making believe that he has a back-bone. If JOHN KELLY will not yet get up an Electoral Commission SAMMY will come down, and no mistake!With a deadly charge of buckshot nesting in his back a la YAZOO DIXON, JOHN KELLY might conclude to retire from the contest this fall. Such things are mighty persuasive.JOHN B. HASKINS was talking at Syracuse, it is true, but he evidently intended his address to be heard by every Northern Douglae and Southern Bourbon Democrat in the land, for he opened it with the fraternal greeting: "Democrats and Fellow Traitors."Some people are surprised that CLARKSON N. POTTER should take the tail end of the New York ticket. "Not so surprising—he took the testimony of JAMES E. ANDERSON and WEED, and the man who would do that would jump at the tail end of anything, and take it if he could."The famous San Francisco Sand Lots will reverberate to unaccustomed sounds next Saturday. The Union veterans of the city will fire an artillery salute therefrom to welcome the arrival of General GRANT. Thus will KEARNEY's stamping-ground for once be utilized for a respectable purpose.The Republicans lack 25% of a clear majority in Maine. If all the Maine voters resident in Washington had gone home to vote they would have lacked much less, as no doubt at least fifty of that class were sufficiently indifferent to remain quietly at their posts and let the Republican party shift for itself. Such is political gratitude.NOW let MESSRS. LAMAR, SINGLETON, CHALMERS & CO. of the Mississippi delegation in Congress answer General WOODFORD's charges about the peculiar administration of justice in that State! They are made by a man who is the peer of each and every one of them in public esteem and whose eye-witness tale has touched the quick, responsive chord of public confidence.THE distasteful CLARKSON N. POTTER had nothing to say "when called upon by an interviewer to explain his acceptance of the second place on the New York Democratic ticket after having rather prematurely declined the first. The question being bluntly put—"How would you like to 'fill DODSHEIMER's shoes?'—he still remained mute, but pinched his nose between his thumb and finger and walked off abruptly.WHEN SAM RANDALL read the returns of the Maine election he wept and said the soldiers had overpowered the Democracy, few had dared vote for GARDNER in the presence of the bayonet, and unless a free ballot could be secured in New York the Goddess of Liberty would fly from the Capitol dome and take up her permanent abode in Yazoo, Miss., where every man can have his choice—to do right or be shot in the back, without benefit of clergy. Sam's sorrow is really genuine, so his friends say.THE Republiks down in Virginia are making very slow progress. If they don't put new vigor into the campaign they will be overwhelmingly defeated, for the bulk of the Republican party seems to be arrayed against them. In their desperation they should not overlook the fact that BEN BUTLER, the Boss Republiks of them all, has not become so preoccupied in his Massachusetts campaign as to be unable to spare a few weeks therefrom. Why don't they invite him to come down and give them a boost? He would certainly do it if there's the least bit of truth in the old saying about a fellow-feeling, &c.WHEN TOM HARLAND in behalf of TILDEN snatched those books out of the courtroom in Michigan so adroitly, DAVID DUDLEY FIELD winked with sly significance, but when the old man swampt CYRUS W. by breaking the market and his contract on the Elevated railway stock, DAVID opened both eyes, and remarked with great energy that the man who would buy electoral votes in Oregon, South Carolina and elsewhere, replenishing his barrel out of the pile of the FIELD family, was such a Goliath of reform that every DAVID should sling a stone at him, not excepting the stinging Senator from Illinois.EX-DOORKEEPER POLK has not, as reported, offered to stamp Mississippi for GRANT, although he thinks he could do it despite the shotgun policy. What he really did offer was to stamp Missouri for GRANT as against TILDEN, and a terrible offer itNEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
